Starting a Litigation Collection Channel from the Ground Floor

Best practices for building and maintaining an effective, compliant legal collections platform

Join our panel of experts as they walk us through not only how to build a litigation channel, but also how to best manage it once established. We will discuss everything from internal legal counsel and risk management to identifying and validating the right accounts for legal placement. We'll navigate technology and data analytics, timing and milestones, and the ever important audits!

Don't miss this informative session designed for those thinking about starting a litigation strategy and those who also already have a strategy in place.
